WALL STREET DENOUNCED

IN SPEECH BY SENATOR HEPBURN.

Speaks in Favor of Bill Creating Board of Control of Corporations—More Tariff Talk in the House.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Before going into executive session to-day the senate listened to a speech by Hepburn in support of his bill creating a national board for the control of corporations, in which he denounced Wall street because of its alleged interference with the affairs of the country. He said that when the "street" could not dictate the financial course of the government it was ever ready to threaten disaster and he pleaded for legislation that would rob it of such power for evil. The remainder of the open session was devoted to the discussion of the practice by the senate of sending senate resolutions to the calendar after they have been once under discussion. Bacon discussed the point that there was no rule requiring such a course, and urged that his Moroccan resolution had been improperly placed on the calendar. He also contended that the resolution had not had a day's discussion. The matter was not disposed of in open session. The senate adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE.
The Philippine tariff debate in the house to-day consisted more of party maneuvering for advantage, outlining campaign material, than of discussion of the question at issue. The tariff was the text of a speech by Grosvenor, who began the debate and an extended reply by Williams, the minority leader. Grosvenor's speech was spiced with wit and sarcasm and enlivened by interruptions from Champ Clark, to whom Grosvenor aimed most of his argument. Williams outlined the specific tariff duties of the Democratic party and held that the Republican tariff was not in its so-called "protection" of the present time and the business depression of these countries during the hard times of 1893.

Adams (Wis.) opposed the bill, but advocated a readjustment of tariff on business principles. McKinley (Calif.) spoke in favor of the pending measure and pointed the finger of warning toward the growing industries of Japan. Debate on the bill will close Saturday and the measure will be put on its passage Monday.

CAPITAL NOTES.
A cablegram was received at the navy department from Gibraltar announcing the arrival there of all vessels of the third division.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt gave a dinner at the White House to-night in honor of the diplomatic corps.

A message received by the navy department to-day indicates that the dry dock Dowsy is now at least 1,000 miles east of St. Augustine, Fla.

The senate in secret session to-day discussed the status of Bacon's Moroccan resolution for three hours and in the end it was left on the calendar, where it must remain until taken therefrom by a majority vote of the senate or by unanimous consent. This will prevent its consideration by the senate or by a senate committee.

Senator Clark, of Wyoming, chairman of the judiciary committee, introduced a bill authorizing the attorney general, the solicitor general and other officials of the department of justice to begin and conduct any kind of legal proceedings, civil or criminal, in any court of any quasi-judicial district, or before any quasi-judicial body, whether or not they reside in the judicial district where such proceedings are brought.

CANNOT AGREE ON SCHEDULE.
Chicago, Jan. 11.—Members of the Three "I" baseball league met here to-day to decide on a playing schedule for the coming season, but were unable to reach a decision. Four different schedules were submitted, but all provided dates for Cedar Rapids which would take the team away from home during fair week, and in order to avoid this it was decided to propose a new schedule and submit it to a mail vote to be decided in February.

MINE ON FIRE

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 11.—The Tamarack copper mine is on fire with three miners missing and almost certain to have more deaths in a horrible form, one-half to three-fourths of a mile below the earth's surface. The shafts have been sealed in the hope of smothering the flames. The mine contains several million feet of lumber and unless the air is shut off by sealing all openings the property would be damaged to the extent of many millions of dollars.

CIVIL MARRIAGE.
Madrid, Spain, Jan. 11.—The civil marriage of Prince Ferdinand, of Bavaria, and Infanta Maria Teresa, sister of King Alfonso, was celebrated to-night.

A DESPERATE MAN

Murders His Mother, Attempts to Kill Wife and Children, Then Kills Himself.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 11.—Nels Nelson, a logger at Walkerson, to-day killed his mother with a razor, cutting her throat; attempted to kill his wife and two children, and thinking they were dead, killed himself with a revolver. His mother was slain while trying to protect his wife and children. The wife and children may recover. Nelson had been brooding over unpaid taxes on his home, amounting to $25, a tax lien having been issued. In the house to-day was found $300 cash and he was worth more than $3,000.

Albert Lea, Minn., Jan. 11.—Moses Kimball Armstrong, formerly a prominent banker, is dead, aged 74 years. Armstrong was born in Milan, Ohio, but removed to Iowa and later to Dakota Territory, where he took a prominent part in the territorial government. He was speaker of the house in the territorial legislature, territorial treasurer, and held other important offices. His "History of the Dakotas" is considered an authority on the early doings of the territory.

DISMISSED SUIT

New York, Jan. 11.—Judge Holt of the United States district court, to-day dismissed the suit against Major General Brooke, U. S. A., retired, by Donna Francesca O'Reilly O'Connor, countess of Buena Vista, to recover damages because an order was issued by Brooke abolishing hereditary right to slaughter cattle used for beef in Havana, Cuba. Although the court holds that the countess has no remedy at law against the defendant, Judge Holt declares that, in his opinion, she has a good claim for damages against the United States government, which confirmed officially all of General Brooke's orders, or against Cuba, which has some of the responsibilities under the treaty.

FOR ROBBERY

Pat Crowe Indicted at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Jan. 11.—Pat Crowe was indicted to-day for alleged complicity in a street car holdup July 2, 1905, when about $60 was secured from two conductors and a motorman. Arthur Levi, a younger man, is indicted on the same charge with Crowe.

Crowe is now in the hands of the Omaha authorities awaiting trial in February for robbery in connection with the Cudahy kidnapping five years ago. A requisition from Governor Cummins of Iowa is in the hands of Governor Mickey of Nebraska, who will not act on it until the Omaha case is disposed of.

LAW'S DELAY FREES SLAYERS

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 11.—Because they were not brought to trial within four months after arrest, Josephine Collet and William Nagel, under indictment for the murder of Carl Brady last June, to-day were freed by Judge William Gest in the circuit court. Both had made confessions, each implicating the other as chief actor in the tragedy.

DARING ATTEMPT

Revolutionists Try to Capture Military Train.

Riga, Livonia, Jan. 11.—News has been received here of a daring attempt of the revolutionists to capture a military train conveying a large sum of money from St. Petersburg to Libau. A band of revolutionists gathered at Hazenpof, burned two bridges and tore up the track. Two companies of infantry, escorting the train left for the scene and were joined by a detachment of dragoons. This force marched against the revolutionists who, from behind improvised defenses, opened fire on the soldiers. The infantry, after firing two volleys, which killed sixty-five and wounded 100 revolutionists, charged with bayonets and the dragoons completed the rout by snuffing all the revolutionists they overtook.

REFORM CONFERENCE

Chicago, Jan. 11.—The United Cities Reform conference perfected its organization to-day by electing Charles R. Crane of Chicago, chairman; R. Fulton Cutting of New York, vice chairman, and William S. Moorehead of New Haven, Conn., secretary. The afternoon session to-day was devoted to a description by delegates of conditions existing in different cities.

MARSHALL FIELD'S CONDITION.

New York, Jan. 11.—A bulletin as to the condition of Marshall Field of Chicago, who is seriously ill here, issued by the attending physician to-night, says the patient's condition "is favorable and there is no immediate danger."

SLEEPER FALLS FROM TRUCKS

ACCIDENT ON WABASH RAILROAD.

Derailed on Elevated in St. Louis and Fell Fifteen Feet to Pavement—Seven of the Passengers Injured.

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—The rear Pullman sleeper "Harcourt" on a Wabash train was derailed on the terminal elevated tracks at Carr street this morning and fell broadside fifteen feet to the pavement below, injuring seven passengers. The injured are Mrs. D. Purdy, Chicago; J. W. Patterson, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Pomeroy, Chicago; Charles E. Sutton, Providence, R. I.; W. B. Miner, Roswell, N. J., and I. Regenber, New York.

The crash of the car, as it landed on the pavement, after the fall from the tracks, resounded through half a dozen warehouses and factories that stand near the scene. Many volunteers among the workmen broke open the vestibule sleeper and carried out the injured passengers. The sleeper had just swung onto the elevated tracks that skirt the river front when the derailment occurred and after running for a few feet along the tracks, the car careened to the westward and broke the wooden railing that runs along the tracks. Toppling as it fell the car landed in a triangular space bounded by the steel supports of the elevated road and walls of buildings facing the levee. The remainder of the train proceeded to the union depot.

Porter Rambo stated there were thirteen passengers in the car, twelve adults and a little girl. Among the passengers were General Manager Henry Miller of the Wabash, General Managers Rudolph of the Wabash, Vice President Allen of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas. They escaped injury. The "Harcourt" was the last car and the breaking of its coupling prevented the other cars from being dragged down when it jumped the track. All the injured passengers, excepting one, were taken, at their request, to different hotels.

HAZING CASES.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 11.—There is good reason for belief that Midshipman Foster of New Albany, Ind., and Midshipman Marzoni of Pensacola, Fla., have been found guilty of hazing. Both midshipmen belong to the first class and would have graduated Feb. 19th. They are regarded as good students in general and each had a specialty. Foster devised an improvement in the form of a war nose used on vessels and Marzoni is considered the best linguist in the class.

The last stages, except argument of counsel and of the judge advocate, were completed this afternoon in the case of Midshipman Stephen Deatur, Jr., charged with hazing. The accused occupied the stand in his own defense. He denied the charges of hazing, or that he encouraged hazing. It is admitted that Deatur is in greater danger of conviction upon the last of the three specifications than on the others. This is the one that charges the accused encouraged and countenanced the hazing of Fourth Classman Gaylord Church.

USED MAILS TO DEFRAUD.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 11.—If A. Ritchie, J. A. Tracey and J. H. Featherstone, members of the real estate firm of H. A. Ritchie & Co., were arrested here this afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal Tracy on a charge of using the mails to defraud. They were released on $20 bonds each. It is alleged that by means of printed contracts containing misleading paragraphs, the firm had deceived and defrauded many persons, and that J. A. Tracey, one of the defendants, who is an attorney, took advantage of the similarity of his name to that of J. A. Tracey, deputy United States marshal, to enforce collection of claims of the real estate company.

TRUST DEED ON HOME.

New York, Jan. 11.—It was announced to-day that John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, has given a trust deed on his home in Long Branch, N. J., to secure the $100,000 note which he gave the New York Life in part payment for money advanced by the company to Andrew Hamilton and not yet returned by Hamilton. The total amount advanced to Hamilton and unaccounted for by him was $225,000, and in addition to this note McCall gave the company a check for $50,000.

BRICK LAYERS AND MASONS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—The International Union of Bricklayers and Masons to-day adopted a resolution endorsing the stand taken by the union printers and pledged support to the Typographical union in its fight for an eight hour day and the closed shop.

AMITIONS GRATIFIED

Greenville, Pa., Jan. 11.—Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, in an open letter to his constituents, dated Washington, Jan. 10, says all his political ambitions are gratified and that he will never again ask for a political office.

DON'T WANT CHILDREN

Society Women of Philadelphia Openly Advocate Race Suicide.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 11.—Dr. Charlotte Abbey, a noted sociologist, started Philadelphia by declaring that many society women, and some of the middle class, as well, had come to her in an effort to dispose of their children. Dr. Abbey refused to disclose any names, but declared she even had been offered money to rid certain mothers of the responsibility of caring for their children.

"Women of society and of the solid middle class, so often linked to all that is respectable and upright, often come to me with children they desire to dispose of. Often these women are of the class that calls itself 'socially elect'."

"In my position as superintendent of the Women's Directory, which has for one of its objects investigation of causes of desertion and neglect of paternal obligations, I often have been brought in contact with women of fashion who, in their desire to seek amusement, and at the same time make the most of their responsibilities of life, frankly told me that they did not want to be bothered with children. They not only countenanced race suicide, but encouraged other women to approve of it."

ROOM FOR DRUNKARDS.

Chillicothe, Mo., Jan. 11.—A handsome, fitted "sobering-up room" for jaggies was advocated by Rev. J. W. Allen, pastor of the Elm Street Methodist church. "These poor men who get drunk are the ones who really pay the saloon license," said Mr. Allen. "They are the men who reduce our taxes 25 to 30 cents a head and which we depend on these saloons for revenue and license them to look up in a 'cooler' the man who patronizes them."

"What we should do is provide a handsome furnished room, with luxurious couches and other comforts that the fellow who is paying the taxes may sleep off his drink there."

CHARGED WITH BIG STEAL.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 11.—George H. Smith, a clerk in the Great Northern division superintendent's office here, was placed under arrest charged with carrying "strawmen" on his pay rolls. Dogus time checks aggregating over $300,000 have been located, but the specific charges against Smith concern a check made out to a Fred Kelly for the sum of $38, which was presented for payment by Smith on Dec. 28, last. Smith had charge of making up all time vouchers issued from the superintendent's office. The young man asserts his innocence.

AFTER BIGELOW

Author Given Chance to Substantiate Story.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The senate committee on intercommerce canal to-day placed in the hands of Sergeant at Arms Randall a subpoena for Pauline Bigelow, the author and traveler, whose article on the government of the canal and management of canal affairs was denounced by the president. The committee's purpose is to let Bigelow substantiate his story if possible and if that is not done, to remove the stigma placed upon the names of several officials of the isthmian canal commission.

LIVESTOCK BREEDERS.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 11.—The Interstate Livestock Breeders' association to-day elected James Walpole Rock Valley president; Alexander Auer McRoot, Pullman, Iowa, vice president; R. L. Wicks of St. Louis, secretary; D. E. Held, Clinton, Iowa, treasurer; William McGivney and W. R. A. Smith of St. Louis, and P. W. Peterson of Vermillion, S. D., executive committee.

ANTI-FOREIGN SENTIMENT.

Pekin, China, Jan. 11.—Reports from the south and from the Yangtze valley region show the anti-foreign sentiment to be very strong. China undoubtedly is in a ferment of political excitement, but the movement is directed as much against the government as against foreigners. The government is considered too slow in bringing about promised reforms.

RAILROAD OFFICIAL CHANGE.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—A. H. Hanson, passenger traffic manager of the Illinois Central railroad, was to-day elected chairman of the executive committee of the Western Passenger association, to succeed P. A. Easton of the Burlington system, who had served several terms in the office.

ORATORICAL DEBATE.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Eugene J. Marshall, of the University of Wisconsin, won first honors in the annual oratorical debate here to-night. Marshall's subject was "Hamilton and the Constitution." Jacob Catlin of the University of Illinois, whose subject was "An Estimate of Hamilton," secured second prizes. Other universities represented in the contest were Indiana and Iowa.

THE MOROCCAN SITUATION

FACTS CONCERNING THE EMPIRE

Has Been in a State of Turmoil for Many Years Past—International Conference Convenes Next Week.

New York, Jan. 11.—The empire of Morocco, an absolute despotism, has been in a state of turmoil for many years past, owing to the natural course of events in a country unrestrained by any laws, civil or religious, and also on account of the steady warfare which the sultan, Mulai Abdel-Aziz, has had to wage against the pretenders to the throne. This caused a feeling of uneasiness among the Arab tribes in Algeria, the adjoining French territory, and led to efforts on the part of France to assume a guardianship over Morocco. Germany was not willing unreservedly to agree to this, being second only to Great Britain in the extent of her interests in Morocco. In 1902 the imports of the three powers into Morocco were: Great Britain, $2,210,000; Germany, $1,850,000, and France, $380,000. The exports of Morocco to the three powers in 1902 were: To Great Britain, $2,000,000; to Germany, $335,000, and to France, $785,000.

France, pursuing her Moroccan policy, sent a special mission to Fez last year. Germany and Great Britain did the same. The German emperor went still further. He visited Tangier, March 31, 1905, on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, but remaining ashore barely two hours. During that time he made a speech of which several versions were published. The substance of his majesty's remarks, however, was that he assured the German residents that the sovereignty and integrity of Morocco would be maintained. The same day the French minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, made a significant speech in the senate at Paris, during which, after referring to the sultan's weakness and the anarchy resulting therefrom, "pro-judicial to everybody and especially to France and Algeria," he declared that "resistance in interested quarters would not cause France to modify her policy" in Morocco. This sentiment called forth vigorous applause.

These utterances aroused both Germany and France and caused excitement throughout Europe, resulting later in a strained state of affairs and in the proposition to hold an international conference on Morocco.

France and Great Britain April 8, 1901, signed an agreement by which the latter in substance gave France a free hand in Morocco in return for a free hand in Egypt and the settlement of the Newfoundland fisheries disputes. Great Britain also agreed to support France in her Moroccan policy.

But, in the meanwhile, M. Delcasse was compelled to resign, June 6, 1905, after directing the foreign affairs of France since June 28, 1898, and Premier Tournier took the foreign portfolio. Subsequent developments showed that the change in the foreign office probably had averted war between Germany and France as the former country was pressing the latter very severely, diplomatically.

After considerable further fencing between Germany and France those two powers, on July 8, 1905, agreed on the basis of a program for the proposed international conference and without entering into details of the reforms proposed it may be said that the main and most dangerous point to be discussed at the conference is the question whether France is or is not entitled to have a special privileged position in Morocco. This is the vital issue and the minor questions, it has been pointed out, can be adjusted once this point is definitely settled. Germany, it is understood, will seek to secure international control of the police, the customs and other matters, and an "open door" as to commerce.

On Dec. 14, 1905, the French government issued a yellow book setting forth its side of the controversy, and on Jan. 8, 1906, the German government published a white book giving its version of the dispute.

GUILTY OF CRUELTY

Prominent Society Woman of Toledo Convicted of Abusing Adopted Child.

Toledo, Ill., Jan. 11.—Upon evidence of having inflicted 200 wounds, Mrs. Mary L. McKinney, a prominent society woman and church worker of Toledo, was to-day convicted of cruelty to 15-years-old Stella Grady, whom Mrs. McKinney had adopted. Sentence was deferred pending argument on a motion for arrest of judgment. The defense was insanity. During the trial testimony was adduced to show that Mrs. McKinney had repeatedly whipped the child in the back with forks and needles.

PRIOR'S THREAT

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 11.—The fact that Denison & Prior had been using spurious securities was made known several days before Prior committed suicide. Those who had the right to demand a statement of facts from Prior made the demand. They were refused point blank one word of information, and it is said Prior told them if they persisted he would take the secret where no power could wrest it from him. That discovery of the spurious securities was made last week and was promptly put before Prior Monday, when he returned from New York. Among the former patrons of the firm the belief is growing that practically the entire list of available assets have disappeared and nothing will remain of the once flourishing business save large debts due the patrons.

RUSSIAN BUDGET.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 11.—The budget statement for 1906, issued to-night, shows that it will be necessary to raise $210,000,000 by credit operations to balance estimated receipts and expenditures. The latter include $222,500,000 for liquidation of the expenses of the Russo-Japanese war, repatriation of the troops in the far east and reduction of the army to a peace footing.

SUPPRESSED.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 11.—General Sollogub, governor general of the Baltic provinces, told to-day that the revolutionary movement in the province of Lithuania has been suppressed, largely owing to the energy of the naval forces. Quot prevails at Pella, Parnau and Walk in the province of Livonia.

A TESTIMONIAL

Washington, Jan. 11.—Over a hundred persons, including prominent medical practitioners from many cities in the United States, Dr. William Osler of Oxford university, England, and officers of the army and navy, attended a testimonial dinner given to-night in honor of the eighty-third birthday anniversary of Dr. Dr. Robert Fletcher, chief compiler and collector of the medical and scientific library of the surgeon general's office of the army. Dr. C. T. Vaughn, of the public health and marine hospital service, in his speech, said no greater reputation could be given the Osler theory than the best work of a man's life had been done at the age of 80 than the subject in whose honor the assemblage was gathered. Osler quickly replied that he (Fletcher) was an exception to the rule.

DEATHS FROM SPOTTED FEVER.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 11.—Seven deaths from spotted fever have occurred among 350 naval apprentices brought to the training station here last November. Several others are ill of the same disease. The body of John Rolfe, who died yesterday, was shipped to McCook, Neb., to-night.

SUES FOR DAMAGES.

Mr. Moon, in his petition, states that their carriage was run into by a north-bound car on Taylor avenue. Mrs. Moon said that two of his ribs were broken, resulting in pleurisy, and that he and Mrs. Moon suffered other injuries. He estimates the damage to himself in loss of time at $2,000; damage to his wife for medical attention and expenses of travel as the result of her injuries, $2,000, and the damages to the carriage and horses and harness at $4,000. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mr. and Mrs. Moon are well known in this city through frequent visits with relatives here.

PACKERS MAY LOSE MILLIONS

UNLESS CONGRESS MAKES APPROPRIATION

Secretary Wilson Asked for Funds to Carry on Work of Inspecting Meat Sent to Germany—Wilson's Statement.

Washington, Jan. 11.—"Unless congress shortly grants the emergency appropriation of $125,000 requested by me for additional inspectors and microscopists, it is probable that over $50,000,000 worth of orders for American pork and beef products placed by German dealers will go unfulfilled."

This statement was made by Secretary Wilson to-day. Anticipating the high rates of duty on products emanating from the United States imposed by the new German tariff which becomes effective March 1st, next, Wilson says German dealers have flooded the packing houses of this country with orders. In speaking of this condition of affairs he referred to the present structure upon the national standard which was stated to be a deficiency of $125,000, the amount asked by him, in alleged violation of the statute of the United States enacted during the last congress.

Wilson declares this statement and a grave injustice, that he created no deficiency, and asked only for an emergency appropriation to meet conditions which the enormously increased business of the last few months, with no increase in the inspection, had been created. The packers are willing to pay this extra amount, but there is no law by which the secretary can make an agreement with the packers accepting such expense.

FIRE LOSSES

Greenville, Pa., Jan. 11.—Fire, starting from an explosion, destroyed the works of the Carnegie Steel company here to-night. The loss is nearly $500,000. The loss is $50,000, with only $5,000 insurance.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 11.—Fire to-night destroyed the Norfolk Storage and Peanut company's establishment adjoining the city jail. All prisoners were marched out of the jail and several made their escape. The mill was ordered out to guard the prisoners. The property lost is $100,000. Ten thousand bags of peanuts were burned.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 11.—The five story brick building occupied by the Rock Island and Railway company burned to-night. Loss $50,000. Four families in an adjoining tenement house were rescued with difficulty by the firemen.

Paper—A Probable Solution
Offered.To the older generation this question may come as a dynamite bomb in a lithero peaceful and unassuming camp.
But it has come, not alone from one woman, Mrs. Ellen J. Richards, who stands as one of the foremost authorities on all problems connected with the health of the home, but from many thinking women. It is such women who in club or general gathering have been heard to say:"If women can't or won't adopt the business man's method, laying down fixed rules for the conduct of the house and sticking to them, it is high time the man of the house should interfere and either compel this handling or undertake it himself till the way has been blazed through what seems to be for most women a trackless forest."That this statement is made openly, need be no source of sorrow or anger to the many women who have learned business methods with the family income, and therefore resent what seems usurpation.
But an enormous proportion of women
come to the home ignorant, untrained, and taking for granted that such knowledge as is necessary comes somehow of itself, and the result is the income earned by the husband is mismanaged to a degree that would bring discharge to any clerk in a business house. The vast majority, literally tens of thousands of women occupying flats in the city of New York for instance, detect arithmetic, pay little attention or none at all to the keeping of household accounts or the planning of dietaries suitable to the season and within a fixed limit as to price. They prefer to order over the telephone rather than go to market and to buy what strikes the fancy of the moment, no matter how suddenly this method may swell the sum total of expenses for the month.An income anywhere from $1,200 to perhaps $2,500 is often made insufficient, where the practice of a little simple arithmetic would have shown its sufficiency
for all real needs, with often a margin for the unexpected. The increase in rents is a troublesome fact, and the increase in the price of provisions no less so, yet investigators of general conditions find that over 50 per cent of the income often goes for food. This amount shows careless and uselessly extravagant buying."It's the horrid telephone that does it!
I wish it had never been invented!" cried
a young housekeeper the other day, her eyes red from a fit of crying over the month's bills."But what can the telephone have to do with it, child?" said the friend who had just come in."Why, don't you see, the telephone saves all the trouble of going out in the morning, only ordering that way I can't tell exactly what things will cost till the bills come in. So this month there is $2.00 more on the grocery bill and almost $5.00 on the butcher's. Tam got very red in the face when he saw it, and said if I didn't cut down somehow he would have to go without his spring suit, and then he slammed the door and just went, and he never did so before."Now tears came again. "You see, it was the outrageous price of spring lamb that did it. The butcher asked through the telephone if I didn't want some and I said, 'Yes and asparagus to go with it,'
and they were both double nearly what they had any business to be. And then I think good food is better worth paying for than doctor's bills, don't you? But it's the telephone. I used to know someof the prices and now I don't," and the little lady looked up as helplessly as if this were the inevitable condition of the marriage of improvement.In one sense the telephone may be counted the entering wedge in the new form of irresponsibility, since it is now introduced in even the low-priced apartments. All provision dealers rejoice in the fact, since a pound or so more goes in on an order when the housekeeper is not there to see it weighed. The dealers rejoice, but the husband, on a whole, of $100 a year or less, is discovering that the telephone is more often household enemy than friend."It takes a millionaire to keep things straight," one of these dealers said in answer to a question from a regular customer, who had asked if he found that his list customers kept to a certain average a week. "The flat folks are apt to get what strikes their fancy, strawberries maybe out of season and all that. But I've got a millionaire on my list—more than one, too—that gives positive orders never to deliver goods to agents or employees without a signed order from the mistress. If the order called for ten pounds of beef and I happened to send eleven I couldn't collect for that extra pound, and I watch out to have it all right. Millionaires and regular tenementhouse folks are best payers often, for the foreign tenement-house women come themselves with a basket and know the cups and how to cook the cheaper ones
so that they are just as good as the dear ones.""I've gone as far as to say sometimes that the girl who is going to marry a clerk or mechanic ought to be required to take a course in such things, whatever you would call it. But what they don't know helps to fill our pockets, though if you'll believe it, ma'am, I'd pay extra taxes if it would help along cooking schools for all the children. I've seen such trouble come from wives that haven't the sense of a kitten."The stout, comfortable looking market-man turned to a customer, but he added
as he turned, "I shouldn't wonder if the men would have to take hold of it after all. It's business and the woman shouldn't know it."—Helen Campbell, in the Congregationalist and Christian World.IN BED FOUR WEEKS WITH LA

Long Expected Announcement
Made Wednesday—Mr Moore's
Term Expires.Springfield, Jan. 11.—Governor Deneen
yesterday announced the long expected appointments of members of the state board of public charities, and the result of a general shake up of the board, the only old member remaining being Rev.
Father Edward A. Kelly of Chicago, whose term of office does not expire until March 1, 1906. Of the other members, all of whom retire from the board, two failed
of confirmation by the senate last spring, the term of another has expired and another member is transferred to another board. Two of the new members of the board were former members under other governors and have had considerable experience in the workings of the board.PRESIDENT BILLINGS PROMINENT.The new board was constituted according to the desires of Dr. F. Billings of Chicago, the president, who is one of the new appointees. Dr. Billings is president of the American Medical association, and was president of the International Medical congress. He is one of the leading physicians in the United States, and has rehabilitated the Dunning hospital for the insane in Cook county. He is a millionaire and very active in public charities.THE OTHER NEW MEMBERS.The other appointees are Miss Julia C.
Lathrop of Rockford, Rabbi Emil G.
Hirsch of Chicago, and Dr. John T. Mc-Annally of Carbondale. Miss Lathrop was appointed by Governor Altgeld a member of the state board of public charities, and was one of the most active members of the board. She was retained
by Governor Tanner and Governor Yates,
but during the administration of Governor Yates she had a falling out with him over the retention of Col. Mack Tanner, son of Governor Tanner, as secretary of the board. Governor Yates insisting that the board re-elect Secretary Tanner, and she resigned. Rabbi Hirsch was a member of the board at the same time,
having been appointed by Governor Yates, and he took sides with Miss Lathrop in the matter of Colonel Tanner's re-election and also resigned.Dr. McAnnally is a former president of the Illinois State Medical society.THE RETIRING MEMBERS.All the old members of the board were appointees of Governor Yates. Dr. William Jayne of Springfield and Dr. H. C.
Fairbrother of East St. Louis failed of confirmation by the senate at the session of the legislature last spring and therefore they have only remained on the board until their successors have been appointed. The term of office of Emory
Moore of Jacksonville has expired. A. S.
Wright of Woodstock and another member of the board were yesterday transferred by Governor Deneen to the board of trustees of the Soldiers' Orphans' home
at Normal, vice Judge William G. Cochran of Sullivan, who resigned. Mr. Wright will be later transferred to another board.As stated above, the term of Rev. Fr.
Edward A. Kelly of Chicago does not expire until March 1, of this year.Now is your chance to visit sunny

Japanese Dentistry

The Japanese dentist does not frighten his patient away with an array of steel instruments. All his operations in tooth drawing are performed by the thumb and forefinger of one hand. The skill necessary to do this is acquired only after long practice, but when once it is obtained, the operator is able to extract half a dozen teeth in about thirty seconds without once removing his fingers from the patient's mouth. The dentist's education commences with the pulling out of plugs which have been pressed into soft wood; it ends with the drawing of hard pegs which have been driven into an oak plank with a heavy mallet.

This may be true, but 'tis true that we employ latest methods in dentistry. We extract teeth absolutely without pain.

ZUEBLIN LECTURE

First of University Extension Series Heard by Large Audience—Spoke of "The New Civic Spirit."

Prof. Charles Zueblin delivered the first of his series of six lectures to be given this winter under the auspices of the University Extension committee upon the "Twentieth Century City," at the Congregational church Thursday evening. A large audience was present and heard the speaker with great interest.

Dr. F. S. Hayden, chairman of the University Extension committee, introduced Mr. Zueblin with a few words of appreciation, and before entering upon his theme, Prof. Zueblin expressed his appreciation of the compliment paid his endeavors, and indicated his pleasure in being present. He then introduced his subject, "The New Civic Spirit," with the assertion that the unearthing of corruption in our cities is a hopeful sign, and that those civic bodies which have not yet confessed to their corruption are the ones to be pitied. The process of social evolution may be imperceptible to the participants, and yet the social ideas of the new generation may be incomprehensible to the passing generation. Nowhere is this truer than in the new civic spirit.

Up to the last two decades of the 19th century the only recognized avenues of social service were those three—the church, the school and charity. Politics bore a stigma given it by the corrupt practices of the immediate past, a stigma which some still attribute to it. Nowhere can a man so wholly sacrifice himself for fellow man as in political service, but this fact was not recognized. The new civic spirit was in a deplorable condition. The church was stagnating, the school was in the process of transformation, and philanthropy was patronizing. The change in attitude in the past decade, however, gives hope to the rising of a new civic spirit.

The two great movements, social reform and civil progress, were shown to result from contrasting conditions, the former coming from below, and the latter from a higher plane; the former from adversity, idleness and agitation, and the latter from prosperity, leisure and culture. The agents of social reform were mentioned in their place, and the agents of civic progress were presented as having been transplanted to American soil from England—charity organization, university extension and social settlements.

"The new civic spirit is the inevitable but unconscious result of a growing democracy. Participation in the life of the masses of the people vastly outweighs the pleasures of strife, and the attainment of the ephemeral honors of conventional society, and this has become the ambition of a portion of the new generation."

BAPTIST REVIVAL.

The evangelistic meetings at the First Baptist church have developed into a genuine old fashioned revival. The audiences each evening fill all the available seats and a deep spiritual interest characterizes every meeting.

Each evening a number have been converted and as yet the meetings have hardly begun. An excellent chorus under the leadership of Luther Smith leads the singing. Rev. Mr. Marsh is conducting the meetings in person and there is much encouragement for him in the great work which is being accomplished.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Bastard, of Poolsville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of the remedy, says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough remedy, for I have used it with perfect success. My child, Garland, is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief."

LOWDEN OF ILLINOIS

REPORTED AFTER A PLUM.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The presence of Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, in Washington the past two or three days has given rise to political gossip. Mr. Lowden was ostensibly here, according to one report, for the purpose of urging the appointment of his friend, Spencer Eddy, as minister to Turkey. Another Illinoisan said some federal appointments were to be made soon in Chicago, and he rather suspected that Mr. Lowden was interesting himself more in domestic than international affairs, on this account. The same authority said it could be announced that Lamont T. Hoy, at present appraiser of the port at Chicago, was to be appointed United States marshal to succeed John C. Ames, and that Mr. Ames would be appointed collector of customs to succeed William Penn Nixon. It was further stated that Henry L. Howe was to retain his job as collector of internal revenue, this being a concession to Governor Deneen.

C. T. Clark, state's attorney of Vermillion county, Ill., has been decided upon for assistant United States district attorney under W. E. Trantmann of East St. Louis, attorney for the eastern district of Illinois. Mr. Clark is a Danville man and was proposed by Speaker Cannon.

Charles T. Cherry, for years a member of the Illinois legislature, who is now receiver of national banks, it was stated to day, will retain his position. Reports received here recently were to the effect that Mr. Cherry was a candidate for United States marshal for the northern district of Oklahoma. He is in Washington on business with the treasury department.

AN ILLEGAL CEREMONY

In an opinion rendered Wednesday in which it is cited that the laws of the Methodist Episcopal church conflict with the state marriage laws of Illinois, Attorney General Stead holds that marriages performed by Methodist ministers, having a charge but not having been regularly ordained, are not legal. The opinion is given in answer to a communication from Hon. B. A. Van Winkle, state's attorney of Morgan county.

In his opinion Attorney General Stead recites the fact that it is one of the rules or laws of the Methodist Episcopal church to give the power to young ministers having regular charges, but not being regularly ordained, to perform marriage ceremonies.

"Section 4 of the Marriage Law," says the attorney general, "was amended in 1905 to provide that marriages must be performed in Illinois by regularly ordained ministers, in regular standing of the church or society to which said minister belongs."

"In my opinion a minister not regularly ordained, has no authority, under the law, to perform marriage ceremonies."

According to the above opinion, marriages performed by a minister not ordained by the church or society which he represents, are common law marriages and should be recognized as such by the laws of Illinois.—State Register.

The occasion of the inquiry of Mr. Van Winkle was a request for information from a young Methodist minister of this county, who was recently invited to officiate at a wedding ceremony but declined, pending investigation as to the legality of the proceeding. So far as is known, no such marriages have been performed within this county.

Cake With Diamond Trimmings.

It gives to the jewel lover a turn to think of a $1,000 ring lurking in a cake, says the New York Press. This was the experience of a Boston girl recently. She decided to make her wedding cake herself, and in the course of the operation she lost a big and beautiful diamond from her finger. She did not miss it until the cake was finished. Fearing it had been lost in the dough, yet not liking to disturb this triumph of culinary art, she called the aid of science and posed the cake for an X-ray photograph. It was found to be in the center of the cake, and though she was thankful that her treasure was restored to her the marring of the cake's smooth surface to require it was a sad event from the careful housewife's standpoint.

CIVIL SERVICE TRIAL ENTERED

UPON BEFORE JUDGE BARNES—ATTORNEYS FOR DEFENSE

Declared Act Unconstitutional—Overruled by Court—Jury Selected—Taking of Evidence Will Begin This Morning.

An attempt to establish the unconstitutionality of the state civil service law was made before Judge Charles A. Barnes of the county court Thursday in the trial of the case of Alderman M. L. Hildreth, charged with violation of the civil service law.

Arguments of counsel to quash information occupied the attention of the court at the morning session and it required the afternoon session to select the jury. At 5 o'clock by agreement of counsel court adjourned until this morning at 9 o'clock. The veniremen were not placed in charge of a special bailiff but were allowed to go to their respective homes after being cautioned by the court not to discuss the merits of the case or to permit anyone to discuss the case with them.

Appearing in behalf of the prosecution are Thomas E. Dempsey of the attorney general's office of Springfield, State's attorney Van Winkle, L. O. Vaught, W. B. Moulton, head of the state civil service board, Secretary Joseph Mason, of the board, and members, J. O. Willoughby of Belleville, and J. Stanley Brown of Rockford, minority member, occupied seats adjoining counsel for the prosecution.

Judge M. T. Layman, John J. Reeve, H. M. Ticknor, Thomas Worthington and W. N. Hairgrove are the attorneys representing the defendant.

Attorneys Reeve and Hairgrove made the arguments upon the motion to quash the information and contention was made that the law was unconstitutional on the ground that its provision exempting superintendents of state institutions, chief clerk and one stenographer, is class legislation and contrary both to federal and state constitutions. The fact that the act specifies a class of persons to whom the law applies and then exempts in the same institution other employees was declared to be clearly in derogation of the spirit of the constitution, which gives equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

It was held by the defense that the act was contrary to certain inalienable rights guaranteed by the constitution to all citizens and the broad view was taken by counsel that a citizen had as much right to speak to another citizen on the matter of political finances as one citizen had the right to speak to another on the subject of church finances and that if the legislature could limit the rights of citizens in the first instance it could create limitations of a similar character in the second.

Under this contention the question of delegated power by a state legislature was argued and it was held that the legislature of a state was not vested with powers that could be delegated to a board to be exercised by that board in the formation of rules that would abridge the rights of one citizen to discuss with another any topic, no matter whether it pertained to political finances or any other subject, and that any legislative attempt along that line was unconstitutional.

It was also held that the attempt to exercise police powers under an act that was not strictly penal in its nature was contrary to the police powers conferred by the constitution and that in the case at bar an attempt had been made to exercise police power when the cause for exercise was insufficient to support the exercise of such power.

It was further contended that an act that excluded one employee of a class and did not extend to others of the same class, stenographers being the class particularly cited, made the act unconstitutional.

At the conclusion of the argument made by the defense, attorneys for the prosecution not making any answer to the same, the court overruled the motion. The court stated that the purpose of the act was to increase the fitness and efficiency of state employees and remove them from political interference that had subjected them to the caprice of political leaders. That a court of inferior jurisdiction should uphold an act passed by the state legislature unless it is clearly shown to the court and the court is satisfied from the showing made that the act is unconstitutional. Any other practices on the part of inferior courts would cause confusion. Notwithstanding the able arguments made by counsel in support of the motion the court could not see that it was unconstitutional and inasmuch as the form of the information was not attacked the court so ruled.

Counsel for the defense then introduced a motion to compel the prosecution to elect which one of the ten counts they would proceed under but as the court held acquittal under any one of the counts of the information could be acquittal under all this motion was also overruled.

Defendant then waived arraignment and entered his plea of not guilty.

Arguments of counsel occupied the entire morning session of the court.

Examination of juryman began with the afternoon session and at 4:30 o'clock the following panel was sworn, and after an examination of about 50 veniremen:

B. F. Buchanan, farmer; Patrick Hayes, laborer; Louis Peipenberger, barber; W. T. Sooy, carpenter; David Lockman, farmer; James Green, farmer; John L. Martin, farmer; John Rule, cement contractor; Chas. Gilmore, hack driver; J. A. Armstrong, log buyer; Ed F. Geiss, cigarmaker, and J. W. Fitzpatrick, farmer.

The opening statements to the jury were made by Attorney Thos. Dempsey for the state and Attorney W. N. Hairgrove for the defense.

Both gentlemen spoke to the jury in a simple and direct manner and for the state Attorney Dempsey was emphatic in his presentation that the state expected to prove the facts as charged in the indictment and he urged the jury to hear strictly to the line and not to be influenced on either side by prejudice or personal feeling.

Attorney Hairgrove contended that it was not a law under which the defendant had been found guilty but an act of the legislature which was not constitutional as the attorneys for the defense believed. He reminded the jury of the few times in the history of jurisprudence in Morgan county when a jury had been called upon to pass upon the constitutionality of an act of the legislature. He impressed upon the jurors the importance of their position in the case at bar. He declared that it would be conclusively shown that Mr. Hildreth did not solicit funds at the state school for the deaf but that he was there on other business and casually asked the gentlemen from whom it is alleged, contributions were solicited if they wanted to contribute to the campaign fund then being raised.

He held that under the law an act of the legislature to be of full force and effect upon the citizens of the state of Illinois must be made public in each county of the state and that thirty days before it becomes effective a copy of the act must be filed with the county clerk. Counsel claimed that a copy of the present civil service act was not filed with the clerk of Morgan county until Dec. 7 and that the law went into effect Nov. 1.

At the conclusion of the opening speeches Attorney Vaught suggested to the court that an adjournment be taken until this morning at 9 o'clock in view of the fact that the case could not be finished even with a night session. Conference of attorneys on both sides resulted and the court stated that adjournment would be taken until this morning at 9 o'clock.

TWO STRANGERS.

Two gentlemen of dignified mien, commanding presence and stately bearing were noticed on the streets and in the court house Thursday. Description after description was given the local staff as the rounds of the day were made and when reports came to the city editor's attention from sleuth after sleuth it was determined to start an investigation. The description tallied as to generalities and differed only in minor points. It was declared that the gentlemen named were the cynosure of all eyes. They were neatly dressed. Some said both were glasses but on this point there was some difference of testimony as it was declared in certain quarters that one of the gentlemen wore a monocle and one curious minded person declared that a shaggy dog accompanied the man with the monocle. This last rumor was run down and it was found that the dog part of the story was incorrect as the canine belonged to one of the choroplexes of the "Land of Nod." It was also learned that both gentlemen had monocles and that they were saving them for to day. Very accurate descriptions of the personalities of the two gentlemen were detailed. One was declared to be of portly build, with a smile playing continuously around his benign countenance with a Beau Brummel air. His dress was neat but not gaudy; his linen was immaculate, his trousers had evidently been pressed the day before, his feet were city shod, his coat had the wide lapels now worn by Ward McAllisters of the city stripe, his chapman was of the Dunlap block and some said he was seen to use a pencil and had occasionally while in the court house.

The other gentleman wore a sphynx like expression on his countenance, he looked out through a pair of piercing jet black eyes and viewed mankind and the world about him in an austere manner. He too evidently believed as the late Senator Hoar declared that clothes don't make the man but help him a blame sight after he is made.

He was caparisoned not gaily but in good taste and behaved like a man who was on speaking terms with a steady job and who drew his salary as regularly as his breath but not so often. In action this gentleman moved gracefully along the walks of our classic city but in repose his visage assumed a worried look. In the court house he was seen to recline leisurely in his chair and among those who had seen this gentleman, two declared, he was observed to use a pencil once during the session of the court.

Reports as to these gentlemen tallied that they both sat close together but had little to say to each other. It was declared that each was seen to look out of the corners of his eyes at the other when the other looked away. They were sly glances however and each seemed to be mindful of the other but psychologically their faces at times were a study.

Descriptions poured in galore regarding these men of good looks and high breeding, but their identity remained a mystery until the dramatic entry of the local staff came rushing in crying "Eureka!" at every bound.

Seated in the opera house in the dress circle the dramatic critic had espied two men who answered the description of the many that had come to the office. Interrupting the play when the soubrette was doing her best stunt the purloiner of dramatic pulchritude abandoned the bewildering sight before the footlights and made for the objects his optics beheld.

At first his timidity and well known modesty got the better of his judgment in his questionings but finally he came out boldly and asked the question that solved the riddle and his information which was verified in numerous instances afterwards was that one of the gentlemen represented the great Chicago Tribune and the other used pencil and pad at so much per for the Record-Herald.

P. S. It is said by those who know that the worried looks were due to the fear that one would scoop the other on the news story of the Hildreth trial.

Two gentlemen of dignified mien, commanding presence and stately bearing were noticed on the streets and in the court house Thursday. Description after description was given the local staff as the rounds of the day were made and when reports came to the city editor's attention from sleuth after sleuth it was determined to start an investigation. The description tallied as to generalities and differed only in minor points. It was declared that the gentlemen named were the cynosure of all eyes. They were neatly dressed. Some said both were glasses but on this point there was some difference of testimony as it was declared in certain quarters that one of the gentlemen wore a monocle and one curious minded person declared that a shaggy dog accompanied the man with the monocle. This last rumor was run down and it was found that the dog part of the story was incorrect as the canine belonged to one of the choroplexes of the "Land of Nod." It was also learned that both gentlemen had monocles and that they were saving them for to day. Very accurate descriptions of the personalities of the two gentlemen were detailed. One was declared to be of portly build, with a smile playing continuously around his benign countenance with a Beau Brummel air. His dress was neat but not gaudy; his linen was immaculate, his trousers had evidently been pressed the day before, his feet were city shod, his coat had the wide lapels now worn by Ward McAllisters of the city stripe, his chapman was of the Dunlap block and some said he was seen to use a pencil and had occasionally while in the court house.

The other gentleman wore a sphynx like expression on his countenance, he looked out through a pair of piercing jet black eyes and viewed mankind and the world about him in an austere manner. He too evidently believed as the late Senator Hoar declared that clothes don't make the man but help him a blame sight after he is made.

ANTI-PASS ORDINANCE

Governor Deneen, while he has issued no formal order to that effect, has notified the officials and employees of all the departments of the state government under his control and of the state charitable and penal and reformatory institutions that they must not ask or accept passes from railroads. They must make affidavit as to their traveling expenses, also. Heretofore, in many instances, state employees have charged railroad fare in their expense account, while traveling on railroad passes.

Governor Deneen does not use railroad passes himself, and he is determined that none of the state employees shall be under obligations to the railroads.

The governor has publicly declared himself through the press as being in favor of a law prohibiting the issuance of railroad passes to or acceptance of passes by state officials or employees.

WILL MEET QUINCY

Local High School Debating Team Will Strive for Honors in the Gem City Tonight—First Debate of Series.

Quincy Whig: At the assembly hall of the high school to night the debate between the Jacksonville and Quincy high schools will be held. This is the first of a series of argumentative contests which the local school is to have with the neighboring high schools and the students and patrons of the school are manifesting much interest in the outcome of the inter-school contest to night.

The question at issue is: "Resolved, That the Monroe doctrine as interpreted by President Roosevelt in a recent message to congress should be adopted as a national policy." The Quincy debaters, Will Thompson, Lester Stern and Bessie Ince, will defend the affirmative while for Jacksonville Carl Weber, Senna Miller and John Butler will strive to uphold the negative and also to win glory for their school on the rostrum.

Judge J. N. Carter has consented to preside at the meeting and the following well known educators have been selected to act as judges: President Sigmund, of Carthage college; Miss Caroline Grote, superintendent of schools of Pike county; Prof. S. H. Trego, of Clayton.

At intervals during the evening musical selections will be rendered by the boys' and girls' glee clubs of the Quincy high school.

DOLMETSCH CONCERT AT SPRINGFIELD

Executive Committee of Musical Union Makes Report

Some of the members of the executive committee of the Musical Union returned Thursday from Springfield where they went to hear Arnold Dolmetsch and company in their concert of "Music of Olden Times."

The concert was held in the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Springfield Musical club. The room was completely filled and many were standing out in the hall. We expected something very fine and we were not to be disappointed. No sooner had the artists appeared in their beautiful but quaint old costumes till the audience seemed carried back in thought to the seventeenth century. The music was all that of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries by such old masters as Purcell, Handel, Scarlatti and Bach. Of course the most valuable feature of the program was that all of this old music was played from the first editions and on the same instruments for which they were written. There were vocal numbers and numbers on the lute, the virginals, the harpsichord, viol da Gamba, viola d'Amore, violin and clarichord. Each number was prefaced by a few remarks explaining the peculiar instrument which was to be used. The concert was not a mere show appealing only to our curiosity—it was a revelation. The old masters seemed to live once more and to tenderly tell us of their joys and sorrows through the marvelous tones of these old instruments in the hands of these great artists. Each on the harpsichord is not the dry, studious music which often seems on the piano. It is as full of life and emotion as is the music of the more modern school of impressionists. The most classical compositions become simple and intelligent to the masses. Musical Jacksonville should greet this wonderful company of artists with a full house at State Street church next Tuesday evening. It will be the rarest musical treat that Jacksonville has experienced for many years.

AT THE GRAND.

The "Land of Nod" was good. It was superbly mounted and the piece abounded in clever hits made by a competent cast, several of whom were far above the average. The music was sprightly, the members of the chorus worked hard and the opera in its entirety satisfied and delighted a large audience.

The encores were frequent and the "Land of Nod" will be remembered by local theatre patrons as one of the best shows seen at the Grand this season.

The opera shown with sartorial splendor and the scenic investiture was very beautiful and well conceived. The people who essayed the interpretation of the various parts gave a character delineation that was a credit to dramatic art. There were no great individual voices, but the acting strength of the cast in a large measure compensated for this deficiency. Few musical comedies have a greater claim to public favor than the "Land of Nod." The production last evening was thoroughly enjoyed.

To night "In Old Kentucky."
